Special Postgraduate Entry Scheme in Shanghai

This course will enable you to:

- Improve your academic skills so you can be successful on your degree programme in the UK
- Focus on improving your English before leaving for your study overseas
- Fulfil the conditions of your conditional offer in China
- Avoid culture shock – enjoy a smooth, supported transition to your study abroad with other students in the same situation
- Save money – on tuition, living costs and your visa – by studying in Shanghai
- Benefit from the experience, support and facilities of ECUPL in your preparation for overseas study

*Other international students are welcome to apply if they would like to do their pre-sessional programme in China. ECUPL will help with the international student visa for China
The 10 week Pre-Masters Programme in Shanghai

This is an English Language and study skills pre-sessional programme designed to prepare students for their Masters study at the University of Leeds. The programme has been developed by the University of Leeds Language Centre. It is directed by the University of Leeds Language Centre and taught jointly by specially trained staff from the Language Centre and ECUPL.

Aims

- Develop the language and study skills needed for effective participation in a Masters degree.
- Familiarise participants with the teaching and studying methodology commonly employed on UK Masters degrees.

Skills

The programme focuses on academic skills such as:
- Oral presentations
- Seminar skills
- Academic writing
- Listening to lectures
- General language skills including: speaking, pronunciation and vocabulary

After successful completion of the Pre-Masters Programme in Shanghai, you will transfer to the University of Leeds to start your postgraduate studies. You will not need to take IELTS again.

Entry Requirements

Applicants must:
- already hold an unconditional/conditional offer from the University of Leeds
- be eligible for a University of Leeds 10 week pre-sessional programme
  * Subject to departmental approval
